Description:

Our project is an e-commerce website selling Taiwanese snacks. It includes home page, about page, contact page, log in page, cart page and drop down categories which has 4 options. all of them can be accessible by the navigation on the top of each page. We have designed two arrow buttons on each product page so that users can see more different product photos. However, we have not completed the scripts yet. It is expected to be completed next time together with the calculation of the shopping cart and the database of user accounts.

Approach / What I Did:

We completed most of the visual aspects of the website (except for the scripts), including product photos, prices, e-commerce titles, e-commerce main colors, web page layout, navigation, and descriptions. We wrote all the different pages and linked them together so they work like a normal functioning e-commerce site.

Issues and Resolutions:

Color for our website

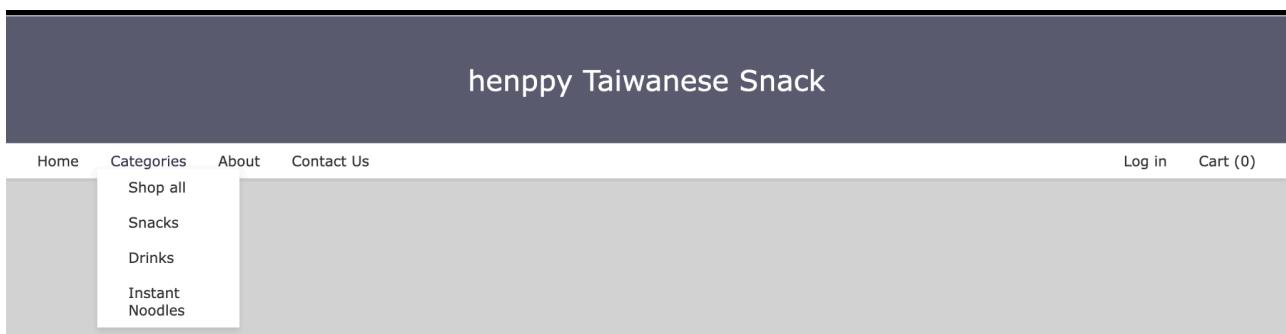

I saw a really pretty color on a website so I took a screenshot and went to an online color picker to get the rgb values to put on our website.

https://www.ginifab.com/feeds/pms/recognize_color_from_image.php

Category drop down

When I first did the dropdown for our category, I had problems with the css. It was stuck on the very left hand side, had a different styling than the rest of the nav bar. I tried different websites but none of the solutions worked so I asked chatGPT to generate a drop down part for my nav bar. It turns out I added extra properties to the original category button which made the styling weird and not fit in.

Screen shots:

The screenshot shows a "Trending" section with three items displayed in separate boxes:

- Pineapple Cake ($9.99) - An image of a purple box containing four smaller boxes of pineapple cake.
- One More Cup Instant Noodle ($2.50) - An image of a white cup of instant noodles with the text "來一客" on it.
- Barley Drink ($1.25) - An image of a yellow and red carton of barley drink.

Each item has an "Add to cart" button below its description. At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with the text "We try our best to bring the best to you ^-^" and a copyright notice: "© 2024 CSC 317-02 JEM group project".

Welcome to henppy Taiwanese Snacks!

Welcome to our e-commerce site that sells delicious Taiwanese snacks. We are group JEM and our members are Jacky Yang, Emily Chou, and Morris Chen. All three of us are from Taiwan and we all miss food from our home. We decided to use this project to promote these delicious Taiwanese snacks to everyone.

A little about our name! We decided on the name henppy ("hen-py") because it sounds like very naughty in mandarin. As taiwanese, we all love puns and word play, we thought this name would represent our site because we can just play around and have fun, be a little naughty.

We hope you enjoy our site! If you have any questions or would like to give us some suggestions, feel free to hit the Contact Us page and send us a message!
